

Friday evenings

Photography classes
6.30pm to 8.30pm
Once a month
Richard Pearce

The Friday Night Photography classes are designed for enthusiasts with some understanding of their cameras, but who want to take their hobby further. With a relaxed and friendly group of like-minded people, we explore different aspects of photography, quite often challenging members to step outside their comfort zone.

A typical evening will include viewing members' photos – you are given a 'homework' assignment – discussing 'techniques and technicalities,' and undertaking a practical task.

The aim is to enjoy photography and improve skills.

Topics covered include black and white, landscape, painting with light, portraiture and more.

But be warned – you could become seriously addicted.

As one member commented recently: 'I am now looking for photographs everywhere.'

While another added: 'I really look forward to the meetings and go home feeling that I have enjoyed the time and with lots of ideas running round my head.'
